CORRECTION. - Mr. R. L. Carne requests us to say that our reporter misunderstood a remark made by him in the School Board, yesterday, and to publish the following corrected and fuller report of what he then said :

"The Superintendent of Schools said that he thought he could readily account for the change of opinion in Mr. Hopkins. When the project for building a school-house was entertained, a house for the boys, which was most needed, was the only one thought of. For that purpose Mr. Bradley's building, having scarcely any yard, was entirely unfir, and he had so pronounced it. When Mr. Addison had suggested its use as a school-house for girls, however, the whole aspect of things was changed, and, becoming satisfied that no suitable house for the boys could be built with the means at the command of the Board, he had become a warm advocate of the purchase and had spoken favorably of it to nearly, if not quite, all the trustees, and especially to Mr. Hopkins, who had drawn a plan for the new building. He thought the argument he had used strong enough to change Mr. H.'s mind, and was of opinioa that he had accomplished that result.

During his recent brief absence from the city one of the papers had alluded to the return by him of a present which Mr. Bradley had attempted to make him. He would here say, most emphatically, that he had had no idea whatever that Mr. Bradley had any improper motive in making him that present. The circumstances were these: A friend had informed him that a valuable present had been made to a member of the Board by Mr. Bradley, and that a strong suspicion of bribery attached to it; and, further, that Mr. B. proposed making presents to other members of the Board; and, also, to the Superintendent of Schools. Believing that the acceptance of gifts by public officers was improper, and yet not wishing to offend Mr. Bradley, who was an old friend, he had requested his informant to tellthat gentleman that he could not receive anything if offered, and to request that no offer be made. Sometime aftewards, however, Mr. George H. Hinken brought a handsome rocking chair to his house. He chanced to meet him at the door, and required him to carry it back at once to Mr. Bradley and tell him he could and would receive no present whatever. Mr. B. was somewhat offended at the time, and he believed was not yet fully satisfied about the matter. He wished to say that had he accepted the gift, he should feel just as innoccut of bribery as he did now. He had told Mr. Bradley, when he had proposed the buying of the house to him, that it would not answer, and that gentleman had never again urged it upon him. Indeed, he had felt somewhat nettled because, while others were being importuned about it, he was treated as if he had neither interest nor influence in the matter. His only reasons for returning the gift were a motive of public policy and a regard for

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS .- The attendance at the noon prayer meeting, yesterday, was still larger than the day before. Mr. Howard read the 12th and 13th verses of the 14th Chapter of John, and made some comments. One was very striking, that Christians in most cases read the promises and believe them for others but not for themselves. He then narrated in detail a number of instances in which he had himself experienced direct answers to his prayers, and known such answers to the prayers of others recently at Salem, Big Lick and Lynchburg. The instances were certainly remarkable. From this address one would suppose him to Christian world is wondering at in George Miller of Bristol. The service for children and young people in the Second Presbyterian Church at night, was very largely attended. The church was crowded, and the whole vestibule was filled. Mr. Howard has one particular feature in these services, which is the reading of letters he has received from persons converted under his ministry. He read several last night from children from nine to fourteen years of age. His design seems to be to show persons in this way by living example how they too may become Christians. His sermon was on the words of Jesus on the cross, "I It was a simple, devout, and loving recital of the Savior's sufferiogs when he made atonement for our sins. The application was a most earnest and tender appeal to every one, young or old, to love Him who has so proved His love to us, and the truth was pressed home with great directness and urgency that we must love the Saviour, or stand convicted before heaven and earth of the blackest ingratitude. It seems unfortunate that the service last night was protracted a half hour longer than the time appointed, but this was in a large measure due to the fact that the people were a haif hour too late in assembling.

THE SUSPENSION OF MARCUS D. BUCK. -The report published in the Alexandria Gazette that this gentleman had made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, we learn, is incorrect. Owing to the depressed state of business, and his failure to realize upon his large stock of brandy and wine, Mr. Buck has been compelled to suspend payment to his crediters. We have no very accurate information as to his liabilities, but hear them estimated at about $100,000. Mr. Buck's creditors are among the most substantial citizens of Warren county, and it is believed his assets, with those of his sureties, are sufficient to cover all debts. There was a meeting of creditors at the Shenandoah Valley Bank yesterday, at 4 p. m., to determine upon measures for the protection of their interests. Mr. Buck's high character, integrity and energy have attracted universal sympathy in his present misfortune, and we hope that some plan may be adopted by which he may be enabled to work out of his difficulties without loss to his creditors. - Winchester

ENTERTAINMENT AT FALLS CHURCH. - The r sidents of Falls Church and of the adjacent neighborhood, crowded the hall of the Jefferson lustitute of that town, last evening, to witness a dramatio entertainment, entitled, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," given by the Pioneer Lodge No. 1, I. O. G. T., in the cause of temperance, for the benefit of the lodge and the Jefferson Institute. Just before the commencement of the performance Dr. Moran stepped upon the stage and made some very feeling and eloquent remarks, in which he strongly advocated the cause of temperance. At 8:30 o'clock the curtain arose and the play went smoothly on, many parts of the acting bringing tears to the eyes of the audience. The music was unexceptionably fine. The drama will be repeated on Friday evening, 11th inst., in addition to which will be some excellent vocal

CROP PROSPECTS IN MARYLAND. - Present intelligence from all the country between here and Baltimore, along the line of the Potomac and Patapseo rivers, and the Chesapeake Bay, is to the effect that the prospects for all sorts of farm produce are more favorable than they have been for several previous years; and that the large amount of guano used by the farmers living in the section of country alluded to, together with the late copious rains, will increase the products of the farms fourfold, unless the present tavorable indications be marred by un foreseen evil contingencies. Half the tobacco crop has already been pitched, and the plant beds are holding out remarkably well, and the wheat, oats and corn are far advanced, and pre sent every appearance of a large yield.

THE CUMBERLAND ROLLING MILLS.-The Cumberland News says: "We heard Monday that Superintendent Venners had received instructions to pay off and not again employ the puddlers who struck on Friday last. Nor is it probable that their places will be filled immediately, as the order to close the mill on the first of July, for a month, will be anticipated just as soon as the stock of puddled iron on hand is worked up, which will be in a few days, when the mills will likely be closed for about two months. If it should prove to be true it is a very serious affair for the strikers, for they will throw themselves not only out of an extra month's wages, but out of situ-

THE SCHOOL CENSUS. - It seems to be difficult to make some persons, ladies especially, understand the object of the young man who s taking the census of persons between 5 and 21. It is to be taken hereafter once in three years, and every name added to it will give back to the city about three dollars out of what gan, John Williams, and Jonas Wilkinson. she pays into the State school fund, and thus diminish our burdens. Owing to the higher assessments in cities, we pay much more into that fund than we receive from it anyhow, and gers, five gentlemen and three ladies, and it is very desirable that we should get back every dollar to which we are entitled. #### Shipwreck.

NEW YORK, June 10. - Captain Cooper, of the steamer State of Georgia, which arrived here this morning, makes the following statement: June 5th, lat. 46° 34' north; long. 47° 58' west, we had a light breez: from the northwest and hazy weather. There were numerous icebergs and large quantities of floe ice in sight. At 11:30 a. m. we discovered a ship's boat with sails set on port bow. I made immediately for her, and she proved to be boat No. 1 of the steamer Vicksburg, of Liverpool, belonging to the Dominion line, and commanded by Capt. Bennet. There were five men in her and in a very exhausted state; their feet and legs were very much swollen, so much so that their boots had to be cut from their feet. I at once took them with their boat on board, and put the men into hospital under a surgeon's charge. They are still suffering from their great exposure to the wet and cold, but are recovering as fast as could be expected. Their names are James Crowley, of London, boatswain's mate, aged 25; Thomas O'Brien, of Liverpool, seaman, aged 25; Patrick Gro-Crowley makes the following statement: We about twenty in steerage, of whom four were females. The weather was fine until 9 o'clock it. The ship was stopped till daylight, when we proceeded again with but little ice in sight. COLUMBIA FIRE Co.—A regular meeting of the Columbia Steam Fire Company was held shorten sail. The ship was stopped amongst heat night A. W. Chilton. Vice President, in ceeded at full speed to get clear of the ice. At 12 o'clock, at half speed, we struck the ice. The engines were immediately reversed. The ship struck heavily alt on port quarter, carry ing away the fans of the propeller, and a hole was knocked through the plates on that quarter, through which came a great deal of water. We got the sail over and stopped the hole up so that but little water came in. All hands were employed in heaving the cargo overboard.

The Tilton-Beecher Suit.

NEW YORK, June 10. - The court room this morning was again the scene of crowding more dense if possible than yesterday, and that despite of the instructions issued by Judge Neilson. When Mr. Beach, who was early in his arrival, entered, he was received with a perfect storm of applause. Mr. Tilton was present but Beecher and wife absent. Mr. Porter stated that Evarts was unavoidably absent, as he had to go to Washington, and therefore deprived from hearing the remarks of Mr. Beach to-day, but he would be present to-morrow. After a few remarks from Mr. Porter, disclaiming any bitterness in his attack on Mr. Tilton, and stating that he had not used the phrase attributed to him yesterday-"Down, down to hell and say I sent thee there." Mr. Beach replied that he was sorry if he had misunderstood his learned friend, but he had heard him say "down, down," to Tilton and had naturally thought that he desired to consign Tiiton to hell, and, indeed, said counsel, I think so still. [Laughter. | Beecher and his wife entered at this point and took their customary seats. Beach then continued his address.
